

LINEUP OF THE LEAGUES

American League	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Boston	67	46	.593
Cleveland	64	50	.561
Washington	63	52	.548
Chicago	58	56	.509
New York	53	58	.477
Detroit	49	63	.437
Philadelphia	46	68	.398

Yesterday's Results
 Chicago, 4; New York 1.
 Philadelphia, 9; Detroit 2.
 Boston, 6; Cleveland, 2.
 Washington, 3; St. Louis 2.

Games Today
 Cleveland at Boston.
 Detroit at Philadelphia.

National League

Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Chicago	73	.652
New York	64	.577
Pittsburgh	59	.527
Cincinnati	55	.505
St. Louis	51	.459
Philadelphia	48	.440
Boston	48	.432
St. Louis	45	.410

Yesterday's Results
 Chicago, 3; Boston, 0.
 Cincinnati, 8; Brooklyn, 4.
 Pittsburgh, 8; New York, 1.
 St. Louis, 2; Philadelphia, 1.
 Philadelphia, 7; St. Louis 1.

Games Today
 Boston at Chicago.
 New York at Pittsburgh.
 Brooklyn at Cincinnati.
 Philadelphia at St. Louis.

WILL BAR GELDINGS FROM BIG RACE

(By Associated Press.)
 Louisville, Ky., Aug. 20.—J. Winn, general manager of the Louisville Jockey club, announced that geldings will hereafter be barred from start in the Kentucky Derby. The Louisville Jockey club has already announced the disbarment of the unneeded thoroughbred.

Winn's ruling will bar Billy Kelly, considered the champion two-year-old colt of the year. Billy Kelly was the western champion, having won four out of five starts on the Kentucky circuit. At Manassas Springs he took the Irish and U. S. stakes in his only two starts at the Spa. St. Bernard and Col. Livingston, two other fast colts which performed on the Kentucky circuit, would also come under the ban.

Winn said his reason for the action is that the government needs thoroughbred stallions and that if the jockey clubs and racing associations of Kentucky and the east had not taken the initiative in the work of discouraging the gelding of thoroughbreds the government would have intervened. He said that the Kentucky Derby hereafter is to be closed to geldings follows the declaration of the Westchester Racing Association, which is the most important racing association in the country, that the Kentucky Derby, the Withers and Belmont stakes, the Lawrence Realization and the Suburban, will from now on be for pure colts and fillies only.

GREAT LAKES WILL TRY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

(By Associated Press.)
 Great Lakes, Ill., Aug. 20.—Coach Franz Marceau of the Great Lakes Naval Training station track team, is extremely optimistic in regard to the team's chances of lifting the National Amateur track and field championship from the present holder, the Chicago Athletic Association.

The 1918 games will be staged in the new athletic field at Great Lakes, a stadium that boasts a quarter-mile straight away path and a quarter-mile oval track. The senior events are booked for Sept. 21, the juniors for Sept. 22, and the all-around for Sept. 23.

Marceau has not lined up his material from the 45,000 sailors here, but it is no secret that several national champions are included in the personnel. For instance, there is Andy Ward, holder of the senior 100 and 200 yard titles, and Ed Knourek, pole vault king, connected with the team.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

From what we hear, George Burns is about the classiest and most popular outfielder in the National League this season.

Burns has these essentials:
 Fielding ability.
 A good batting eye.
 Speed and brains on the bases.
 A wonderful personality.
 That combination is hard to beat in a straightaway any time.

Burns has developed that uncanny ability to judge within a few feet where a batsman in the league is going to hit. Repeatedly, in every game Burns needs barely step out of the tracks to grab in the drive of the

THE MAN WHO SITS NEXT TO THE WINDOW PAYS WELL FOR THE LIGHT.

CLINTON NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Evans, Upper Main street, are happy over a little daughter, born just before midnight Sunday. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Glen Adams and mother, Mrs. Sand Adams, went to Poplar Grove on Saturday to visit relatives for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, of Highland Park, Delavan Lake, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Zerwiler.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Olsby and daughter Eleanor, of Milton Junction, were the guests of her aunt, Mrs. Albert Jacobson, from Friday till Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eppinghouse, of Chicago, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. Simons.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Drake and Mrs. C. W. Collier returned Sunday from Delevan Lake.

Several from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Bert Hern Sunday afternoon. Rev. Knutson of the Methodist church officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Eldridge were Chicago visitors Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. R. Wilton Moore and son, of Willmette, arrived Friday and are visiting her sister, Mrs. Jay Green, for a few days.

Postmaster Ray Stewart and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Cheeseman, who were in Burlington, Sunday.

Mrs. Floyd Barus is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Booth, of Chicago, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Terpin, of Chicago, returned Saturday with her brother, George Anderson, who has been spending a few days at their home.

Miss Kittie Northrop, of Beloit, and niece, Mrs. Marjory Whitten, are spending the week with Miss Jessie Snyder and other relatives.

Mrs. Edna Scott and Alice Scott-Inman were Sunday guests of B. H. Smith and family at Shopiere.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, Mrs. Alice Thomas and Pearl Eddy spent Sunday with the Dr. Thomas family.

Mrs. E. H. Ransom and daughter Ethel of Janesville, were callers at Mrs. Mary W. Scott's on Monday.

Mrs. Nettie Stearns and daughter, Miss Marjorie, will leave on Tuesday for Cleveland to visit Gardener Stearns and wife.

Miss Ruth Stearns will join them in Chicago and spend two weeks' vacation from her school work at Gary, Indiana, with them at Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Paulson welcomed another baby daughter into their home this morning.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Aug. 19.—Private Ernest Clementson was home on Sunday from Camp Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Millard visited on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Millard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mow.

Dr. Keithley and family of Beloit visited with friends in the village on Sunday afternoon.

Farmers have commenced harvesting some of the early pieces of tobacco. They report the crop a most excellent one and if the curing is successful it will mean a great source of revenue to the raisers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Schenk and family of Madison were Sunday visitors among friends, returning to the Capital City in the evening.

The Ogden annual reunion was held in O. A. Peterson's grove in the town of Plymouth, on Sunday. About eighty were in attendance and a most enjoyable time is reported.

Two auto loads were present from Minnesota. Others from a distance came from Kenosha, and others from the northern part of the state.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, Aug. 19.—There will be plenty of work at the Red Cross rooms Wednesday. Come!

The Magnolia Players played at Hanover, Orford, and Footville last week, but were handicapped by the absence of one of the players who was called away about a half hour before the play was to be given. However, the vacancy was filled and the play given in spite of the handicap.

The players have realized nearly one hundred dollars for "our boys," and are to be congratulated upon the efforts they have put forth in their play. The expenses were made light, as the Footville hall was donated, also the school auditorium at Orford, although three dollars was charged by the Hanover hall owners. At Magnolia Mr. Dougherty donated the hall and lights for the entire practice season, besides the night of the entertainment. Mr. Dougherty has always proved himself a patriot and a liberal donor to the Red Cross efforts and the committee wish to thank him as well as the others who have helped to make the play a success.

DARIEN

Darien, Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wright and son, Morrie, Mr. and Mrs. M. Wood and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Randay and Mrs. Alice Reed spent Sunday in Beloit.

Mrs. Clarence Sawyer and Miss Grace Lowmer were visitors at Camp Grant, Saturday.

Misses Gertrude Lawson, Leah Rockwell, Leonora Hunter and Marian Wilkins spent Friday at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. H. M. McCarthy.

Mrs. Laura Browne returned today, from Wadsworth, Ill., where she has been visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Easterling and two children and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Benner spent Sunday at Charles Zimmerman's, at Fairfield.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilkins and daughter, Ruth, and the Misses Gertrude Lawson and Leah Rockwell, spent Sunday at A. F. Wilkins'.

Mrs. Ben Sweet returned Saturday, from a few days visit with relatives at Algonguin.

Mrs. G. W. Benner is a Beloit visitor, today.

Misses Edith and Marguerite Wells returned, Saturday, from Chicago, where they attended the funeral of their cousin, George Tilly.

Miss Irene Hastings of Beloit, spent the week-end at home.

Rev. G. M. King has been accepted for Y. M. C. A. work and expects to receive a call within two weeks, for work as a hut secretary. He will receive a short training at Princeton, N. J., before going overseas.

He has been given a year's leave of absence from his duties as pastor of the Baptist church, and Mrs. King will supply the pulpit for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Axel Larsen are the proud parents of a baby son, born on August 18.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. M. McCarthy and three children spent Sunday with relatives in Sharon.

The Misses Leah Rockwell, Leonora Hunter and Mrs. M. W. King spent Sunday at the home of John Ives, of Delavan.

A fire broke out in the chimney of the house occupied by Carl Wednes, of Chicago, and burned the building to the ground. Most of the household goods were saved.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Beak spent Sunday in Milwaukee.

BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Trueblood of Watertown, are visiting at the A. G. Pillar home.

Miss Hazel Carlson returned on Thursday, from an extended visit in Edgerton and Cambridge.

Mrs. Byron Amidon returned home on Sunday, from the South Madison Sanitarium.

Virgil Hopkins, sons Earl and Milo, Miss Verna Valentine and Mrs. Robert Smith were Madison visitors, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Powell of Plover, are visiting at the A. G. Pillar home.

Rev. Barnes, of Madison, conducted services at the M. E. church, here, Sunday morning.

Dr. and Mrs. Adolph Smith and children of Woodstock, Ill., are visiting at the Eugene Smith home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rasmussen were Madison visitors, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Richards and son, Bert, autot to Lake Geneva, Saturday, remaining over Sunday. Miss Lottie Richards and Miss Clara Peterson, who have been attending an Epworth League convention there, returned home with them.

The A. R. Dahme family have moved to Delavan, and are at present camping near the lake there.

A. G. Pillar is enjoying a vacation from his mail route, his daughter, Mrs. M. V. Adamson is substituting for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Foyst and children of Madison have been visiting relatives here.

Henry Holt of Evansville visited friends in town Sunday.

Mrs. Mabel E. Smussen returned, on Saturday, from Delavan, where she has been visiting the A. R. Dahme family.

The Misses Davis and Dorothy Whitte went to Deat Allis, Monday, to spend a short time, and from there will go to Kansas City, Mo., for a visit with their sister, Mrs. C. L. Jacobson and family. They will be accompanied by their sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. White.

Mrs. Andrew Crahan has been a guest of the A. R. Dahme family, at Delavan.

Miss Mayme Medlar is visiting her brother, John Medlar and family, in Evansville.

Mrs. A. Curless and son, Richard, of Evansville, visited relatives here, Sunday.

Lyman Sprecher of Madison, spent Sunday at his home here.

Gordon White of Madison spent the week-end at his home here.

John Zook and Harvey Starkweather were Janesville visitors, last week.

The Misses Gladys Sprecher and Laverne of Madison spent the week-end at their respective homes, here.

The Gazette is for sale in Brooklyn at Peterson's restaurant.

Uncle Eben.

"Politeness can't be put on all of a sudden," said Uncle Eben. "Some men trying to be polite makes you think of a swallow-tail coat hurried on over a suit of overalls."

JOHNSTOWN

Johnstown, Aug. 17.—Charles Forrest and family, former residents of this place, now of Fort Atkinson, were calling on all old neighbors on Sunday.

Miss Alice Pinnow was a guest last week at the John Miller home at Peck's Station.

Kenneth Dike of Whitewater was calling on local friends on Wednesday. Elmer Pumphrey left Wednesday evening for Kansas City, where he will take a course in mechanical training.

The threshers presented him with a beautiful wrist watch, and a kit from the Red Cross was given to him.

The Rock Prairie young friends of Ray McCartney gathered at his home Tuesday evening for a farewell party and the evening was enjoyed with music and games.

Messrs. and Mesdames William Bell and J. W. Jones joined a company of friends Wednesday evening at the McCartney home for a visit with Ray, who left Thursday morning for Peoria, Ill., to enter the government training school as a mechanic.

Threshers presented him with a wrist watch and a kit from the Red Cross. Ray was appointed leader of the Peoria contingent.

C. Crull was overcome with the heat Thursday afternoon while pitching grain.

While Mrs. Mark Calkins was cranking her car Monday, she broke her arm and the machine ran over her Dr. Dike of Whitewater was called. Her mother from Milwaukee is here to care for her. The Loyal Duty club all extend the deepest of sympathy.

The Red Cross has been postponed until Friday afternoon, Aug. 30, at the home of Mrs. V. Bjorklund.

HANOVER
 Hanover, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Lillian McWane of Chicago is spending a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Damrow.

Mrs. Will Walters boarded a train for Chicago on Wednesday, returning Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eddy of the town of Rock were Sunday guests at Mrs. Minnie Stiegmans'.

William Cole of Carver's Rock was a caller at Charles Zebell's home yesterday.

Miss Florence Stiegmans spent Sunday at Mrs. Hub Royce's at Plymouth.

Miss Venie Raymond of Medford and Miss Emma Seidmore of Janesville are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Seidmore.

Mrs. J. C. White of Monroe spent last week at Mrs. George Meythaler's.

Mrs. John Buchert and youngest daughter, Miss Mary, were up from West Chicago to see their cousin, Mrs. John Zebell.

Miss Maud Leiler of Monticello enjoyed a few days last week with her friend, Miss Grace Meythaler, returning home yesterday.

Miss Helen Walters is visiting at Yallonia, Ind., with the family of Rev. Mueller, formerly of this place.

Miss Rachel Ehrlinger returned to her home at Milwaukee, Sunday afternoon, after spending some time with the W. Ehrlinger family.

Mrs. Church and daughter, together with a friend, were guests at Mrs. Pete Liston's for a week.

Fred Hunsinger of Monticello spent Sunday at the home of George Meythaler.

News comes from Camp Grant that Ed. Zebell received his new uniform last week and advanced to the rank of "corporal."

Mrs. A. D. Wendt and son, Albert, of Milwaukee, arrived today to spend a few days with Mrs. Seidmore.

Chas. Kelsch of Monroe spent Sunday with George Meythaler's family.

The ladies of the Red Cross are earnestly requested to attend the sewing on Friday. An extra amount of work is on hand and must be handed in by the 30th of August.

Will Hold Convention.

Green Bay.—Master horsehoers of the state will hold their annual convention in Green Bay, Sunday and Monday, September 1 and 2, according to an announcement received from the Wisconsin State Association of Master Horsehoers by William Roth.

About 200 men and their wives are expected to attend the meeting.

While the details of the program have not been definitely outlined, the time of the convention delegates will be taken up with the discussion of trade problems and entertainment features.

Beautiful French Orphans
 THURSDAY EVENING
 Upper Court House Park
 BAND CONCERT
 Lawn Social Pavement dance

For Fatherless Children of France
 Band Concert, Lawn Social and Pavement
 Dance.
 THURSDAY EVENING
 Upper Court House Park.

The Golden Eagle

Levy's

The New Fall Style Clothes

we are now displaying, are styles that will be more popular for Fall and Winter for men or young men. Many of the choicest models are shown exclusively here, and you will get the utmost values in

Suits for Fall and Winter at $20, $25, $30, $35 to $45

See showing in display window.

The Manhattan Shirt Sale

Heres' Your Shirt Buying Chance: It's more than an ordinary opportunity to get shirt bargains and when you get the best shirt made. Better be early for your selection.

Group 1—$2.00 and $2.50 values	$1.65
Group 2—$3.00 and $3.50 values	$2.15
Group 3—$4.00 and $4.50 values	$3.15
Group 4—Silks, $5.00 and $6.00 values	$3.85
Group 5—$6.00 and $6.50 values	$4.85
Group 6—Finest Silks, $7.50, $8.00 and $8.50 values	$6.35

When a man gets to wanting real tobacco comfort and lasting quality he can go straight to Real Gravely Chewing Plug every time.

Peyton Brand
Real Gravely Chewing Plug
 10c a pouch—and worth it

Gravely lasts so much longer it costs no more to chew than ordinary plug

P. B. Gravely Tobacco Company
 Danville, Virginia

PETEY DINK—WHAT'S A FARMERETTE SUIT WITHOUT A FARM?

Love in a Hurry

By GELETT BURGESS
Illustrated by Ray Walters

Copyright by Gelett Burgess

"Well, you ought to be glad you don't have to Flo. Unfortunately, I do. Why, she'll make a good wife, won't she? I don't say I love her, exactly, but, well, I've always liked Rena Royalt. She's a good fellow. She's got the looks, and the style, and the family connections and everything. I wouldn't be a bit ashamed of her as Mrs. Bonistelle. What's the matter with you, Flo? You look so queer! Ill or anything."

"Oh, I'm all right!" Flo smiled bitterly. "Only—only—"

"Well, I'll be hanged! Why, anybody would think it was you who were in a hole, not me. Lord, I thought you cared enough for me to help me out!" She moved instinctively toward him; instinctively she withdrew. "Oh, I do, really I do, Mr. Bonistelle! How can I help you? Tell me!"

"Well, what am I going to do if Mrs. Royalt refuses me. By jove! Just think of it being in that woman's power to cost me four and a half millions! It's outrageous!"

"Don't you let her, Mr. Bonistelle!" Flo broke out eagerly. "Oh, it isn't right. Surely there's some other way—a better way than that, Mr. Bonistelle!"

"A better way? What do you mean?" Hall looked at her, puzzled.

Flo screwed up her courage, and reached gently for his hand. But, no, she didn't quite dare take it. Her own felt, instead, carelessly, but unopened, upon his sleeve.

"Oh, Mr. Bonistelle," she pleaded, "you ought to have someone who really cares for you—who really loves you, you know—who would love you always. Someone who knows how good you are! Don't tie yourself up to a woman like that—why, she's five years older than you are, Mr. Bonistelle—she's middle-aged, almost—and she's been married before, too! Why, you want youth, Mr. Bonistelle—and freshness—and—"

"Can I come in?" A high cheerful voice interrupted them. Both turned suddenly toward the doorway to the office.

CHAPTER IV.

There, standing between the doorway, was a young woman looking in, unembarrassed, with a careless smile on her face. She was the sort of girl who affects extremes in style, and fits to her slimmest the sportiest odd hats, the straightest, narrowest, shortest skirts. But they well became her; there was a not unpleasant masculine note in her air and costume—a briskness and confidence that spoke of golf and tennis, horse or boat. Without being too pretty, she had finely cut, sharp features, a long nose, gray eyes, a deft chin. She was most distinctly a New York type, trim as a cutter, clean and fresh as a bound. If Mrs. Royalt had been willowy-languorous, supersensational, suave, the crisp and cool newcomer was an easily careless as a boy. She waited, with an arch, somewhat amused expression, for an invitation to enter.

"Oh—Miss Dallys! Good morning!" Hall called out and walked toward her. "Say, would you mind waiting just a minute?"

"Sure!" said Carolyn Dallys. She waved her hand jauntily, and retreated to the office.

Hall returned to Flo and stared at her dramatically. Flo trembled. Finally he pounded the table with one stroke of his fist. "By jove!" He nodded emphatically.

"Oh, Mr. Bonistelle—you don't mean—?" Flo looked unrepentant things. He pointed to the door to the office. "There's the girl, right in there! Carolyn Dallys! Why didn't we think of her before?"

Flo winced as if he had struck her in the face. Then she burst forth like a waterfall. "Oh, no! Let me tell you, Mr. Bonistelle! She's too mannish, Mr. Bonistelle, Miss Dallys is—you want a feminine woman, Mr. Bonistelle—you know—one who can care for you and look after you, and see that you get up and keep your appointments—and—oh, dear—can't you see?" She looked at him, saw he was not listening, made another effort, more hysterical, more despair. "Oh, Mr. Bonistelle, why, Miss Dallys cares more for dogs and automobiles than she does for you, Mr. Bonistelle—Mr. Bonistelle!" Flo took him by the coat lapel impressively. "She smokes cigarettes!"

Hall laughed and chuckled her under the chin. "Oh, that's all right! Lord, Flo, I don't want to marry a housekeeper, you know. Why, I'll be a millionaire. I'll have servants to do all that. My wife will have to know a thing or two, you know, society, and manners and taste. Carolyn is right in it. College education, music and everything I need—drives a car, plays polo—bridge—swims and shoots—why, Lord, I'd be proud to death of her. You go right in and tell her I'm ready."

Again Flo flinched. She gave him one hungry look and started for the office. Then a new thought stabbed her. She turned. "What if Mrs. Royalt should say yes? What if she should?" Hall suddenly came to his senses. "Say, by jove! That would be a mix-up, wouldn't it! I hadn't thought of that at all!" He dropped down on a chair and looked at her hopelessly.

Did Flo see, at the prospect of such an entanglement, a faint hope for her own chances? Her face, for a moment, lighted. It was anyone, now, to beat Mrs. Royalt. Flo foresaw that Carolyn Dallys alone could help her. Yes, he must propose to Carolyn. Her voice came artfully smooth and sweet.

"You could hatch up a quarrel, couldn't you—perhaps you could tell her something horrid—or do something—well, you know!"

"Or you could. Couldn't you, Flo? You've helped me out before. You're clever. You know women."

Flo was a new creature now. The primitive woman in her was aroused. She smiled—but it was so unlike Flo's sunny smile it was electric. She nodded sagely.

"Well, then, I'll take a chance, anyway. Lord, I think I've got a right to make as good a choice as I can, if I have to be married to order! I don't see why I should ruin my whole life just because I happened to see Mrs. Royalt first! You tell Carolyn I'm all right."

Flo nodded, with a hard look in her eyes. "All right," she said slowly.

and gulped something down. "It's your funeral!" She walked slowly back to the office and gave Miss Dallys the message, then sat down dully at her desk and hid her face in her hands. Steadily the tears dropped down upon the blotter; at regular intervals Flo's shoulders rose and fell as her emotion swayed her. She began to dab at her eyes with her handkerchief.

Carolyn Dallys, little, free, long-legged, walked into the studio with easy unconcern. "Hello, Hall!" There was always a half-concealed chuckle in her voice. "Got those proofs ready, old man? Darn you if you haven't!"

"Really, Carolyn, I've been awfully rushed. I haven't had a—something very important came up today."

"Oh, you can cut all that out, Hall. The simple reason is you're lazy. And I'd just begun to believe that the little girl out there," she nodded her head toward the office, "had succeeded in making you work. Well, never mind, I can go somewhere else."

"Oh, come now! They'll be ready tonight, I promise you. Perhaps this afternoon, even. The fact is, I just haven't been in the mood to develop the plates, that's all."

She nodded, smiling. "Artistic temperament, eh? Well, it's becoming! I suppose I'll have to wait. Say, Mrs. Royalt seemed to have an idea that she was the only one invited to your party, and when she found I was coming tonight, she was just a bit—well, asthetic."

Hall saw his chance and opened the campaign with energy. "Lord, the idea!" he exclaimed. "As if I wouldn't have you if I had anybody! Why, you always are the first one I ask, Carolyn, you know that!" He turned on sentimental lights in his eyes.

Flo, I don't want to marry a housekeeper, you know. Why, I'll be a millionaire. I'll have servants to do all that. My wife will have to know a thing or two, you know, society, and manners and taste. Carolyn is right in it. College education, music and everything I need—drives a car, plays polo—bridge—swims and shoots—why, Lord, I'd be proud to death of her. You go right in and tell her I'm ready."

Again Flo flinched. She gave him one hungry look and started for the office. Then a new thought stabbed her. She turned. "What if Mrs. Royalt should say yes? What if she should?" Hall suddenly came to his senses. "Say, by jove! That would be a mix-up, wouldn't it! I hadn't thought of that at all!" He dropped down on a chair and looked at her hopelessly.

Did Flo see, at the prospect of such an entanglement, a faint hope for her own chances? Her face, for a moment, lighted. It was anyone, now, to beat Mrs. Royalt. Flo foresaw that Carolyn Dallys alone could help her. Yes, he must propose to Carolyn. Her voice came artfully smooth and sweet.

"You could hatch up a quarrel, couldn't you—perhaps you could tell her something horrid—or do something—well, you know!"

"Or you could. Couldn't you, Flo? You've helped me out before. You're clever. You know women."

Flo was a new creature now. The primitive woman in her was aroused. She smiled—but it was so unlike Flo's sunny smile it was electric. She nodded sagely.

"Well, then, I'll take a chance, anyway. Lord, I think I've got a right to make as good a choice as I can, if I have to be married to order! I don't see why I should ruin my whole life just because I happened to see Mrs. Royalt first! You tell Carolyn I'm all right."

Flo nodded, with a hard look in her eyes. "All right," she said slowly.

Carolyn Dallys, little, free, long-legged, walked into the studio with easy unconcern. "Hello, Hall!" There was always a half-concealed chuckle in her voice. "Got those proofs ready, old man? Darn you if you haven't!"

"Really, Carolyn, I've been awfully rushed. I haven't had a—something very important came up today."

"Oh, you can cut all that out, Hall. The simple reason is you're lazy. And I'd just begun to believe that the little girl out there," she nodded her head toward the office, "had succeeded in making you work. Well, never mind, I can go somewhere else."

"Oh, come now! They'll be ready tonight, I promise you. Perhaps this afternoon, even. The fact is, I just haven't been in the mood to develop the plates, that's all."

She nodded, smiling. "Artistic temperament, eh? Well, it's becoming! I suppose I'll have to wait. Say, Mrs. Royalt seemed to have an idea that she was the only one invited to your party, and when she found I was coming tonight, she was just a bit—well, asthetic."

Hall saw his chance and opened the campaign with energy. "Lord, the idea!" he exclaimed. "As if I wouldn't have you if I had anybody! Why, you always are the first one I ask, Carolyn, you know that!" He turned on sentimental lights in his eyes.

"Really?" Carolyn asked curiously. "Of course! You know I'm awfully fond of you, Carolyn."

"Really?" Carolyn repeated, her lips beginning to quiver with mirth. "Yes, by jove, I'd hardly dare tell you how much."

"Oh, do!" she replied lightly. "I'm feeling awfully stodgey this morning, it might wake me up." She tossed her head in a joyous glance and swung herself over to the other side of the studio and fingered a piece of embroidery. "Fire away, I'm waiting!" she laughed. Then she whistled a piece of a tune, picked up a color plate and squinted at it. "Oh, look at that! That model of yours, isn't it? Miss Gale? Bully! What a stunning costume!" She stood inspecting it.

Hall, meanwhile, was watching her sharply. He noted the trimness of her costume, the freshness of the huge bunch of violets, the whiteness of her gloves, her picturesque, expensive hat. She was so at ease, so independent and unconscious, that it was as if some wild animal had entered his studio. How well she knew her world, how conscious she was of her superiority over most of those she met, her equality with any! She had consummate poise; her self-esteem never waned. She breathed the smartness, culture and self-sufficiency of her social sphere; it protected her like an armor. It was as if, being Carolyn Dallys, she was insured against any form of embarrassment. Carolyn was neither particularly clever nor very rich, but she was "inside," and those "inside" have freedom. Hall himself had been, in his time, "inside"—he had, in fact, despite his working for a sustenance, never been ejected. His own family could stand the strain. He knew, therefore, how to appreciate Carolyn's place. Mrs. Royalt was in the "smart" set—the set that gets into the newspapers—but Carolyn Dallys still lived on Lower Fifth Avenue. She was one of the foundation stones in the social structure of which Mrs. Royalt was a more conspicuous pinnacle.

Hall had gone into a momentary reverie. In that day-dream he had already lived three years with Carolyn, traveled abroad, even to Constantinople, had seen her entertain grand dukes on his yacht, had fought two or three duels with offensive Italian officers on her account. They had ridden horseback up California canyons. Just now they were back in New York. There was even a little Hall Bonistelle—

"Here! Wake up!" He was suddenly jerked back into the present, with Carolyn now seated on a couch, impatiently staring at him. He smiled self-consciously.

"What's the matter with you, Hall?" she asked, looking at him queerly. "You haven't got a hang-over or anything, have you? I didn't think you doped."

He laughed nervously. "I suppose you fascinate me, Carolyn."

She gave a whoop of joy. "Me, uncle!" She pointed inquiringly at her breast. "Say, Hall, old chap, pass the molasses. We women just eat it up, you know! Makes us fat. I need a lot of it. Exit headache!"

"This was hopeless for Hall. He must get serious, or there would be no managing a proposal. Or, perhaps, her manner gave him the cue—wouldn't she be more amenable to a humorous offer? "Try it!" said his intuition. He walked up to her.

"Carolyn, see here, how would you like it if you thought I'd lain awake all last night thinking about you—yes, and the night before, and all last week?"

"Fine! I feel better already. Too good to be true, though. Did you, really?" She rumbled his hair affectionately.

"I certainly did. The fact is, Carolyn, I'm pretty desperate about you."

Carolyn winked. "Easy now—easy!" she said calmly.

"That's right though! I've got a case of Carolyn Dallys good and plenty. It's begun to hurt, girl; d'you know it?"

Carolyn rose, yawning. "Oh, well, if you're going to be silly, Hall, I think I'd better be going. How about these proofs anyway?"

"Proofs be damned! You're not going—not till I settle this thing. Shall I bare my breast and let you give it the stroke, smiling? Or do you prefer to administer an opiate?"

He dropped the mock-heroic pose and took up the blunt-sincere. He walked over to her and took her hand. She had no objections whatever, apparently. "Carolyn, it's an honest fact, I want you!"

"Mr. Bonistelle, am I really to understand that you are proposing to me?" Carolyn smilingly looked him in the eye.

Dinner Stories

As he polished his customer's boots the bootblack puffed at the end of a cigar. Thinking to have a little fun at the youth's expense, the customer asked him if he always smoked cigars.

"Oh, yes, pretty often," declared the youth.

"What brand do you generally smoke?" was the next question.

"Robinson Crusoe, sir," came the reply.

The customer pondered a while. "I never heard of that brand," he said.

"It's a name I've given 'em myself," said the youth. "You see, guv'nor, old Crusoe was a castaway."

Johnny came home from school several times within a month with various bruises on his face and body, received in fights with his schoolmates, and on the last occasion his mother threatened him with severe punishment if he ever engaged in a fight again. Only a few days after the lad appeared with a black eye, and a scar on his forehead.

"Well, sir," he departed from his usual truthful ways, and stammered: "I fell down and hit my head on a stone."

"And which got the worst of it?" asked his big brother.

"Oh, the other fellow," answered Johnny. "He's gone home with two black eyes."

She was a very careful woman and when she noticed that the little boy was getting up to wash his face regularly, his appearance it worried her very much.

"Your conduct troubles me very much," she said. "Now tell me how you get up to wash your face regularly."

"That's easy, ma," the boy replied. "Just let me go in swimming every day."

FOOTVILLE

Footville, Aug. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. George Bahr are entertaining company from out of town.

Mrs. Lizzie Silverthorne came home on Friday after a two weeks stay at the home of her son Roy and family west of town.

Clayton Honeysett of the Great Lakes naval training station, spent Sunday at his home.

Waldo Brown spent Sunday in Janesville with his sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Judd Cowan.

The yearly meeting of the Christian church will be held in the church on Tuesday evening, August 27 and it is asked that each member make an effort to be present.

Charles and family spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Ballis.

Miss Louise Hefly is enjoying a weeks vacation from her work at the foot of Lake Michigan.

Ed and family spent Saturday and left on Saturday for Monroe where she will visit among relatives and friends.

Mrs. Raymond Fetterhoff is the guest of her sister Mrs. Will Timm Jr. Mr. Fetterhoff has recently been called into service for his country and was among the number to leave Ft. Atkinson, where he has been since his marriage a little more than a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schildhauer and children were entertained at dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. J. Owen.

They were motoring through from New Holstein and Milwaukee to their home in Indianapolis, Ind.

Ray Crall and wife of Center attended services in town on Sunday morning.

Miss Hazel Hastings is enjoying a week's vacation from her duties as stenographer at the condenser.

Miss Blanche Silverthorne went to Magnolia on Saturday and was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clarke and enjoyed a visit with her cousin Mrs. Elmer Nelson.

Miss Silverthorne who with her daughters were visiting at the Clarke home. Mrs. Silverthorne returned on Sunday evening.

John Emerick and family of Green county motored to this place on Sunday and were guests at the home of his daughter Mrs. Will Timm.

Will Canary of the Great Lakes training station, spent a few days at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Canary, returning on Sunday afternoon.

Frank Walters recently spent a short time at his home here.

The Misses Katherine Stevens, Mattie Torpy, Ruth Stephens and Bessie Curry who have been employed during their vacation at the condenser, have severed their connections with the organization and will make ready to begin school work at the beginning of the school year.

Mrs. R. J. Saray and daughters, the Misses Mrs. Bernice recently returned from an outing at Lake Kegonsa.

All were glad to see Miss Daisy Spencer at church on Sunday and to know that she was able to again fill her place as superintendent of the Bible class.

Frank Kenna and wife and son Kenneth motored to Camp Grant Saturday to see their son and friends who are in training there and who expect soon to go over seas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wood and children of Magnolia were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Harrison.

visit, also for a rest on their long journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kennedy motored to Camp Grant on Saturday to see their sons Max and Harold who are expected to leave soon for France.

Miss Irene Hefly entertained company from Monroe on Sunday.

George Fatzinger and wife, motored out from Janesville on Friday and spent the night at the F. W. Snyder home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Long spent Sunday at the home of the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Answeil of Evansville.

Answeil and wife accompanied them and will remain for some time at the home of the latter.

Roscoe Brown and wife motored to Roscoe on Sunday and spent the day with the wife of Mrs. Brown.

The drama which was presented by Magnolia home talent on Saturday evening was a great success for every standpoint. They were greeted by a full house and all enjoyed the entertainment. Something over $47 were taken in and the proceeds will be equally divided between the local chapter and Magnolia Red Cross.

Miss Florence Honeysett accompanied Oren Cook and family to Camp Grant on Saturday. Arthur Gooch and family were also there to see their son Ois who expects to be present.

Charles and family, the Misses Hazel and Josephine, motored here from Albany and spent Sunday at the homes of Mrs. Farley and Mrs. Beach.

Selck and family motored to Rockford and Camp Grant to see their son Floyd who is in training there.

Wilbur Rote has severed his connections with the condenser and will assist with the work on the farm.

Charles Torpy is planning to go to Janesville to work. It is understood that he has rented rooms and will at once begin housekeeping in that city.

It was announced on Sunday that the Ladies Aid would meet on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mary Curry. Since the announcement it has been decided to hold this meeting with Mrs. Oren Day, consequently the Ladies Aid will be a joint meeting.

Thursday afternoon, also at the same time and place the adult ladies Bible class will hold their monthly meeting so that this will be a joint meeting of the two organizations and it is asked that all members make an effort to be present.

John Langdon went to Rockford on Saturday to see his son Harry who is expected soon to go overseas.

Miss Daisy Silverthorne boarded the early Thursday morning train and at Beloit was joined by Miss Madeline and Mrs. going to Chicago for a short visit with friends, thence on Saturday to Crown Point, Ind., to spend Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Travas and wife.

Charles Black, wife and daughter Janet, Mrs. Carl Welch and the Misses Elizabeth and Agnes Black, motored here from Rockford and were Sunday guests at the Walter Honeysett home.

Mrs. Charles Stevens are enjoying a pleasant visit with an aunt from out of town.

Mrs. Emma Tollefson recently returned from a pleasant visit with relatives in Richland Center and friends in Madison. Mrs. Tollefson will soon return to take up her school work in Milwaukee, where she has been employed as teacher in the high school there for a number of years.

Wm. Timm and family and Mrs. Mattie Timm were Janesville visitors on Monday.

John Martz, wife and daughter, Laura, recently returned from an outing at Lake Kegonsa, while there they occupied the Lemmel cottage.

Mrs. Elmer Mayhew and son of Rockford have been enjoying a pleasant visit with friends here.

The remains of the late Abram Cronk and funeral service passed through town on Saturday en route for Magnolia, where interment was made in Magnolia cemetery.

EMERALD GROVE

Emerald Grove, Aug. 19.—The Ladies' Auxiliary will meet with Mrs. Frank Wetmore, Thursday afternoon, Aug. 22, picnic supper. Cordial invitation to all.

Mrs. John Lester spent Wednesday with her friends, Mrs. S. A. and Mrs. J. G. Bridges, Milwaukee avenue, Janesville.

Miss Maude Bauman, of Cornelia street, Janesville, spent a few days with Mrs. Ben Brown.

Miss Mary Liburn is spending a few days in Chicago.

Verne Platter was home Sunday from Shopiere.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Forbes are visiting at the home of their sister, Mrs. A. D. Barless.

Mr. and Mrs. Olson entertained Rev. and Mrs. Marks at Sunday dinner.

Miss Ruth Wetmore spent Saturday at Lake Delavan.

The crematory roof caught fire Tuesday, but the flames were soon put out with only small damages.

The Red Cross met this Tuesday with Mrs. Charley Platter. We are making garments for the Belgian children. Plenty of work.

Most everyone from here attended the Janesville fair the past week.

Mrs. Tom Jones' sons are first to harvest tobacco around here, having shed their first on Aug. 13.

CAINVILLE CENTER

Cainville Center, Aug. 19.—The Helpers' union will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. B. Andrew.

The local talent play, "Mrs. Tubbs Does Her Bit," was given at Footville Saturday night. They have taken in $160 for the Red Cross society in the different places they have given the play.

Mrs. Edith Townsend, of Janesville, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Emma Tollefson visited her niece, Mrs. Wilbur Andrew, a few days last week.

Harry Bennett sold his Ford to Geo. McGuire and has purchased a new Chevrolet.

Charles Davis has a new concrete silo about completed on his farm.

Dollie Burnett and Gracie, of Footville, are visiting at Frank Drefah's.

Mr. and Mrs. George Penn were Evansville visitors Sunday.

Conn Andrew left for Chicago last week.

Nellie Gardnes spent Sunday with Nina Worthing.

Fred Byer and family spent Sunday at Janesville with their daughter.

The Canning and Liberty Bread club will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Bessie Roberts. All members are requested to be present.

Charles Ross and wife entertained their daughter and husband from Evansville at dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Will Dixon, Mrs. Clem Fisher and Edwin Fisher were Cainville callers Friday afternoon.

BRADFORD

Bradford, Aug. 19.—During the storm of last Tuesday evening a large stack of newly threshed straw was struck by lightning on the J. R. Duthie farm occupied by Wm. Gutzmer.

The flames were first seen by a neighbor about 4 o'clock the next morning and an alarm quickly sent out brought a large crowd to the scene ready to assist, if necessary, in saving the buildings.

Quite a number of day Wednesday in putting out the fire as it was a menace to the adjoining buildings.

The frequent showers are interrupting the threshing schedule considerably, but are of great benefit to late crops and pastures.

Three and one-half acres of wheat were threshed for Wm. Gutzmer that yielded 192 bushels.

Miss Irene Jones of Emerald Grove, has been engaged to teach the school in district No. 5.